

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Since die pads 50, 51, an external connecting electrode 52 and a bridge are covered with insulating resin after half-etching, they are formed into a single package without using a coupling member such as a supporting lead or adhesive tape. In addition, since no supporting board is required, a low-profiled semiconductor device with excellent heat radiation can be realized.